Sole Source Letter

This letter is to confirm that MobileMind Technologies, LLC is a sole source provider. The proprietary MobileMind Professional Development services are unique in the industry for the following reasons:

- The Only Certified Google Partner who has developed a personalized learning solution that is fully integrated within the Google Chrome Environment.

- MobileMind Professional Development workshops combine educational theory with practical skills and include expert feedback, from teachers. Virtual Courses include live teacher grading. No other solution in the market offers this feature.

- Depth and breadth of experience in enabling mobile solutions for IT and Instruction in K-12. The only PD provider to combine Teachers and Engineers to deliver a total professional development solution to all stakeholders

- MobileMind delivers Professional Development by on-site, virtual or blended delivery options to all stakeholders of a school district, including administrators, instructional technologists, and teachers.

- MobileMind provides school administrators reporting and analytics on PD accomplishments of teachers. This is not found in other PD delivery models and solves a critical issue for schools.

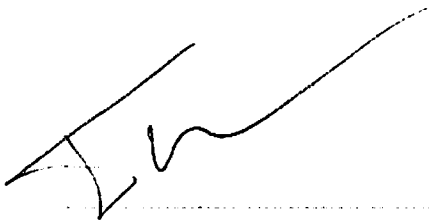

- MobileMind Professional Development is solely focused on Google integration into the classroom. Integration means that technology is a routine, planned, and purposeful part of the classroom environment and is used to support curricular goals and learning objectives.

- MobileMind only does PD for Google. Typical PD companies offer many types of training. MobileMind is solely focused on Google PD
